Foreword

The great heritage and cultural traditions of the South are recognized and valued around the world. This heritage has been described in literature, portrayed in the theater, and relived in the minds of poets and all Southerners.

The South was once the richest area of the world and was envied by everyone. Surely this success was based on an incorrect concept of the dignity of all fellow men. But the price has been paid and the lesson learned. At present the South with a correct concept of human dignity is moving rapidly back up the ladder of economic success.

The friendliness of the South has been expressed in the term "Southern hospitality" and all Southerners can be proud of this attitude. This friendliness and neighborliness is cherished by its people and shall live forever.

Southern people are widely known for the spiritual tradition of fundamentalism. This philosophy of accepting the Bible as the absolute truth and following its precepts to the best of one's ability has been the major reason for Harding Academy's existence. Because of this famous and cherished heritage the Old South has been selected as the theme of the 1963-'64 Harding Academy Shield. We trust this theme will be accepted in the spirit in which it was chosen.

Dedication

The SHIELD staff of 1963-'64 wishes to show our appreciation to one who has given of herself to make our school a better place, both academically and spiritually. Her success as a teacher and as a Christian woman lies in her ability to see the beauty in God's handiwork. This philosophy provides her basic lesson, "God is the Master Artist." Thank you, Mrs. Leah Scott.

TEACHERS

Dear Students:

In a civilization which is moving at such a rapid pace, it is relatively easy to forget the real meaning and purpose of life. Genuine love for God, family, and people in general seems often to be pushed aside for self advancement through production or achievement. God has given to each of us abilities which He expects us to develop and use, but never to the exclusion of devotion to Him as shown through service to others.

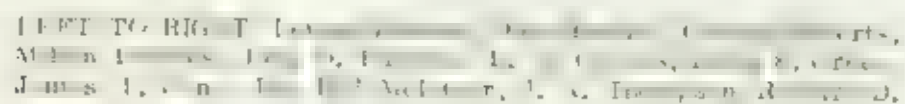

It is sad that so many of us are looking for happiness to be ours at sometime in the future when it is all around us now, if we will just recognize it.

While I was in the hospital earlier during this school year, I was given an opportunity to reflect on the deeper meaning of life both here and hereafter. I hope I shall never forget how wonderful people really are. Only when we like people can we place things in their proper perspective and put "first things first."

At your present age most of you do have this genuine love and concern for others. My prayer is, that you will retain this virtue as success in life seems to be contingent on getting ahead at the expense or neglect of others.

Sincerely Yours,

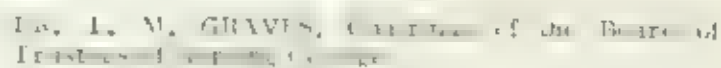

Harold Bowie

Teachers In Action

Students are provided with leisure time to study.

Elementary students provide entertainment to take your mind off work.

Through every phase in our school life, we find a Christian warmth which seems to radiate. Our faculty have been a prime example directing each one of us. We enjoy the privilege at Harding of being co-workers with our faculty in all phases of our school life, spiritually, academically, as well as socially. We watch our faculty during their few leisure moments and we see the same Christian examples. The last phase, yet certainly not the least is that of sports. Lions are taught the importance of showing good sportsmanship at all times. We are taught by devoted Christian men and women that an important rule a Christian must practice is to do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

The unforgettable experience of compiling an annual were felt by the students who labored to "throw this unique yearbook together" for you, the citizens of our school. It is our desire that within these pages the memories of this major portion of our lives may be relived, time and again, throughout the future. Any pleasure derived from our 1963-64 Shield will be reward enough for those hair-raising hours spent behind the door of 203. We have known many varied feelings, but we count ourselves lucky that satisfaction was by far the greatest.

Mr. M.H.A.

A friendly smile and a warm heart greeted Harding Academy with the arrival of JAMES CARLEY. What he has given of himself to this school far exceeds anything we could ever repay. With each undertaking and every activity, his life has radiated the spirit of Christ to a full measure. It was with such thoughts in mind that we chose him to be a representative of all the ideals with which we have been entrusted. However, long after these words have become hollow, we have faith that JAMES CARLEY will still possess the strong Christian character that we are proud to say came from Harding Academy.

Miss M.H.A.

A beautiful heart and a pure life are among the priceless possessions that LINDA WATSON has displayed time and again at Harding Academy. The friendliness that her smile has radiated day after day, the warmth and love in her manner are all a part of LINDA'S personality. Wherever she goes both now and later the kindness that belongs to her will be felt by others. Endless volumes have been written about kindness and love, but they would prove meaningless without people such as LINDA to exemplify these qualities. We see something special in her, but our simple words are inadequate in describing it to you. Perhaps it could best be said that in LINDA we have seen the life of a young Christian.

The Backbone of our 1963-64 team can best be described in the two words, Mote and Berryhill. Their endless spirit and get-up-and go is ever-present in our Lion team, both on and off the field. A great deal of time and effort is required from truly good coaches, and being so, ours certainly deserve top-rating.

Both men were former athletes at Harding College in Searcy and served their teams well. We have felt pride in being privileged to have them work with us at Harding Academy.

Our green jersey converts the hard-earned quarterback while James Carley holds his back for the gain.

Mr. Reese

Mr. Reese instilled in Harding a sense of patriotism and humanity that will not be soon forgotten.

JOHN F. KENNEDY 1917-1963

In Retrospect

Sometimes we can get a clear picture of where we are by taking a glance at where we have been. Another year has become history and we, the SHIELD staff present you with its record.

In presenting a book to the public you must remember that it is a book for many people and must cover their many interests. The value of this book depends upon the value its owners give it. If, after the initial newness is worn off, our book still presents a fresh picture of our year, then, and only then, has it fulfilled its purpose.

Many have shown their interest in us by their encouragement and the staff is deeply indebted to them. Some who we wish to thank personally for help, beyond the call of duty are: Miss Marie Potter, our sponsor; Bill Brown, our regional advisor to the Walsworth publishing company, who helped form the ground work of this year's volume way back in July. Richard Van Eaton took action pictures for our football section, Jimmy Alford of Alford's photography studio made our feature shots and developed our negatives. We thank them and our own courageous darkroom staff.

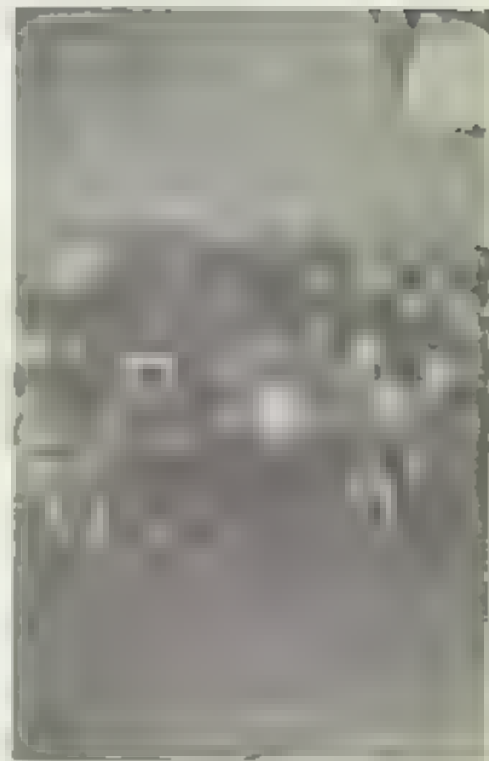

This year has brought small and large accomplishments to all of us. It held smiles and tears, success and defeat, love and times not so pleasant. These moments are recorded for you in this yearbook. In 1963 Harding lost a great teacher and administrator to higher learning. Mr. Reese left to continue his education at the University of Tennessee, however, in losing him we gained Mr. Bob Alley.

We all mourned the death of Mr. Kennedy in a tribute to him along with the rest of the sorrow-stricken nation.

We hope you will enjoy your SHIELD and in days to come will look back upon these "days gone by" with nostalgia and remember

Thank you,

Frank Holden, editor

"Year-round education is a logical development in Christian education. Lipscomb's supreme goal is to enable each student to grow as Jesus grew, 'in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man.' God has a purpose for each of us, and the years allotted for its fulfillment are too few to be wasted in even a fractional part. I plead with every young person who has dedicated his or her life to Christ to think of year-round Christian education."
